GR 19 C: Study of a literary Motif (Optional)
Motivstudie

Credits: 4      Medium of Instruction : German

Objectives:

Literary motifs are images, symbols or themes that are used in a literary work or are repeated throughout a piece of literature so as to form a pattern. As they recur at different points in a narrative, motifs help to unify the text. The course attempts to study particular motifs in literary works from different periods and understand and analyze them.

Course Contents:

- Students should explore use and function of literary motifs in a given literary work e.g. death, sexuality, racism, nature etc.
- Students can focus on the intercultural aspects of comparative studies of various motifs

Prescribed Books/Material:

- Material compiled by the German Section of the Department of F.L. depending on the selection of a motif

GR 19 D: Migration and Literature (Optional)
Migration und Literatur

Credits: 4      Medium of Instruction: German

Objectives:

Migration has become an important part of the radically changing European culture. Today, the demographic makeup of Europe can be represented only through complex ethnic, cultural and linguistic cartographies. The main aim of the course is to make the students aware of this phenomenon and to study literary texts written by authors who migrated to German speaking countries and their second and third generations.

Course Contents:

- A selection of literary texts of authors having migrated from Turkey, Syria, Rumania, Russia etc. reflecting a wide range of issues regarding identity, belonging and co-existence of multicultural societies.

Prescribed Books/Material:

- A selection of texts such as (and other): Texts by
- Özdamar, Emine Sevgi (Mutterzunge, Der Hof im Spiegel. Karagöz in Alamania. Drama.)
- Schami, Rafik (Das letzte Wort der Wanderratte, Erzähler der Nacht)
- Feridun Zaimoglu (Kanak Sprak ; Zwölf Gramm Glück. Erzählungen; Liebesbrand, Roman)
- Aras Ören (Deutschland. Ein türkisches Märchen. Gedichte; Ich anders sprechen lernen),

Semester 4      Part B

GR 20 A: Culture Studies (Optional)
Kulturwissenschaft

Credits: 4      Medium of Instruction: German

Objectives:

Culture Studies is an academic field grounded in critical theory and literary criticism and is necessarily interdisciplinary. The course puts together texts from diverse areas attempting to situate the forces constructing our daily lives. It concerns the political dynamics of contemporary culture, as well as its historical foundations, conflicts and defining traits. Thus, cultural studies seeks to understand the ways in which meaning is generated, disseminated, and produced through various practices, beliefs and institutions.

Course Contents:

Students should handle various forms of artistic expression and explore the cultural traces. The course includes mainly discussions on theoretical issues within the realm of culture studies and can be elaborated with the help of concrete textual examples. Locating concepts like "cultural turn", "Iconic turn" the course shall attempt to help the students explore interdisciplinary approaches to various genres such as film, theatre, performing arts like music, dance, folk art forms etc. It should provide an additional impetus to comparative studies as an independent discipline.

GR 20 B : Media Studies (Optional)
Medienwissenschaften

Credits: 4      Medium of Instruction: German

Objectives:

In today's era of interdisciplinary studies it has become almost imperative to enable the students of literature to relate and connect to other sources influencing their perception. Media Studies is a discipline and field of study that deals with the content, history and effects of various media, in particular, the 'mass media'. The course is a special attempt to connect the diverse media to the study of literature with a special focus on traditional media like theatre, film and television and modern ones like virtual and digital media.

Course Contents:

The course includes discussions on theoretical issues of media convergence and handles concrete texts cutting across various media e.g. literary adaptations, films, theatre, inter-medial translations, radio plays, audio books, digital literature etc.
