

Dr. Tupe Navnath

Navnath Tupe is M.A., M.Ed., B. Dramatics and Ph.D. (Education). He has worked for his doctoral degree on “District Primary Education Program in Communication Viewpoint.” He has over Twenty years experience in teaching at various levels of education such as “K.G. to P. G” and played an important role as a resource person in several Training Programs. He has served as a teacher in Zillah Parishad Primary and Higher Secondary School and has served as a Lecturer in School of Education, Yeshawantrao Chavan Maharashtra Open University. Currently he is a Assistant Professor in the Department of Adult, Continuing Education & Extension, University of Pune. He has undertaken research projects. He is a recognized research guide in the subject of Education. He is an author of repute and has contributed several research papers in National and International leading journals and has presented research papers in National and State Level Conferences. He is a member of several Professional Societies and his areas of interest are Research on Teaching- Learning, Education for All and Dramatics. He has written some dramas and produced Documentary film on issues of Education for All. The Best Education Book Award awarded to his book on “Reading Skill”. He has developed learning material on the topic of Learning English. He had completed a minor research project on the topic of "Ageing", which was founded by the Department of Adult, Continuing Education & Extension, University of Pune.